

PRESS RELEASE

The first European network of regulatory consultancy companies active in the fertiliser sector is born. The Fertiliser Consultants Network (FCN) is now online, at www.fertcon.net you can find information about each member and the provided services. The Network has been created in response to the growing need of the companies, involved in plant nutrition, to expand their market and many companies do not yet have regulatory departments organised for these purposes. For companies wishing to expand their business, FCN is able to provide assistance in almost all of Europe, North Africa, South America, Russia and China.

Within a few years, new regulations will apply in the European Union and in other important Countries and it needs to be prepared for new challenges in sectors such as Biostimulants, Basic Substances, Agronomic Additives and, in general, Biologicals; moreover the new EU regulation on Mutual Recognition has also come into force. Highly specialised local experts with knowledge of both national and EU regulations can adequately assist companies wishing to take advantage of these new opportunities.

The Fertiliser Consultants Network will also attend to the most important international events on plants nutrition and will organise advanced courses on regulatory issues; the network is open to new collaborations in order to continue to expand the coverage areas and to consolidate local partnerships. Current FCN members are: Artemisa, Openagri, Silc Fertilizzanti, Sun Chemical Services and VoxGaia.
